IDC-USA Enters Fluid Power Market

Indianapolis, Ind. — IDC-USA announced today that they have officially entered the fluid power market as a result of their partnership with Fittings Unlimited and RYCO Hydraulics complemented by a complete hose & rubber offering from Jason Industrial. These new supply partner programs provide IDC Distributors with a complete line of fluid power and industrial hose products enabling them to capture new market share with competitively priced quality products.

Holding fast to its promise to provide IDC Distributors with a competitive advantage in the marketplace, IDC-USA is pleased to offer its member-owners access to over 8 million different types and sizes of adapters through the Fittings Unlimited program. With inventory in excess of $4 million, Fittings Unlimited is well-positioned to serve IDC-USA's needs for hydraulic adapters, quick disconnect fittings, live swivels, and brass fittings & accessories.

Founded in 1946, RYCO Hydraulics is an independently owned, Australian-based company known throughout the world for their commitment to quality. Five years ago, they decided to enter the U.S. market and have partnered with IDC-USA as their distribution network. Big wins on the OEM level supports RYCO's commitment to competitively priced quality products that compete at the Tier 1 level. RYCO's vast range of quality hydraulic hose and fittings is supported by a global network of loyal distributors and OEM accounts. RYCO is firmly committed to the independent distributor network and thereby declines doing business with the "Big Boxes".

Privately owned and operated since 1958, Jason has grown to become one of the leading suppliers of industrial rubber products and related hardware in the western hemisphere. Jason's industrial hose and couplings business offers solutions to application challenges in agriculture, construction, food processing, mining, and wastewater, to name a few.
